

Charshi Mosque

Чарши џамија

Charci Mosque (also called Bazaar Mosque) in Prilep is located in the Old Prilep Bazaar, next to the Clock Tower. It is about 25 metres high and it's a rare example of Islamic architecture in Macedonia.

It was built in 1475 year by Hadji Hussein.

This mosque is a unique architectural work, because it's the oldest European mosque which has two balconies that encircle the minaret (Sherefeti) completely.

The mosque was burned during the protests in 2001, after the massacre in Karpalak and today is in ruined condition.
